MAGICAL WEDDINGS IN

Central Oregon

Whether a couple has generational ties to Central Oregon or they've traveled to the high desert and developed a love for the region over time, the area is special to many. Free time here revolves around outdoor pursuits, a robust culinary and libation scene and year-round sunshine. Deciding to marry in this sunny pocket of Oregon is often an easy choice.

Couples who choose to marry in Bend and the nearby communities in Central Oregon come with an adventurous spirit and love for the outdoors, which is often incorporated into ceremonies. Guests might be invited to explore the region's hikes and parks between events, food is often locally sourced from hardworking Central Oregon farmers and ranchers, and striking natural backdrops become the focal point for wedding photography.

In the following pages, meet some of the couples who have recently said "I do" in Central Oregon. Among these newlyweds are lifelong locals who are planting their own roots in Bend and newcomers who have made the move to enjoy all the region offers. The ceremonies and receptions were made possible with the help of many local businesses and vendors, and highlight what makes Central Oregon special—from locally grown wildflower arrangements to pre-wedding fly-fishing on the Metolius River.

Hear from the couples themselves about the details and decision making that went into crafting these dream weddings.

Caitlin & Megan

BIG LAKE WEDDING IN AUTUMN

Caitlin and Megan O'Neill met on a dating app when they were both living in Portland. "A true modern love story," Caitlin said. As the couple loves the outdoors and activity, it was only fitting that their first date be at a climbing gym, with a visit to 10 Barrel Brewing Co.'s Portland location afterwards.

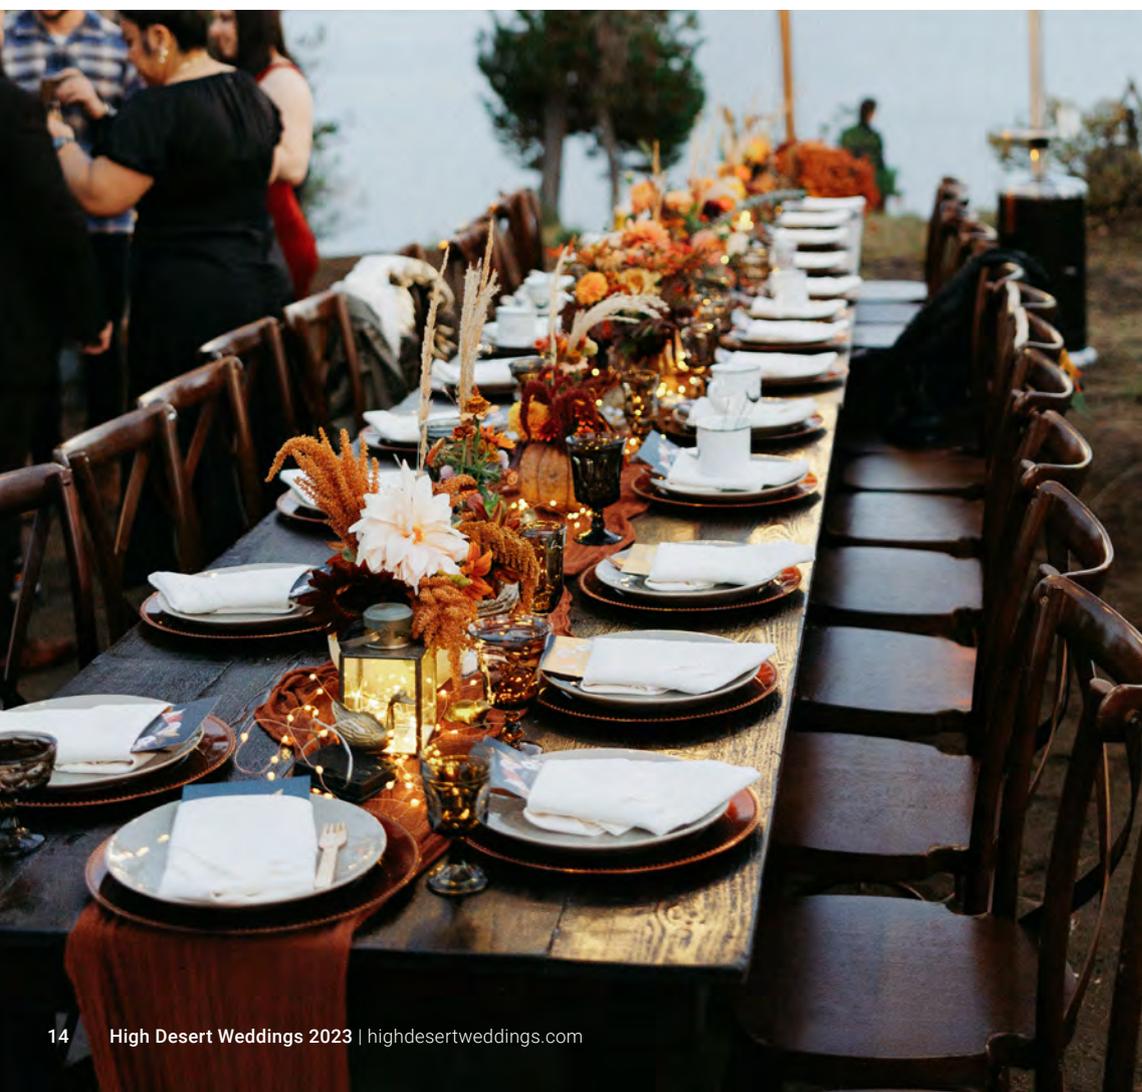

During the height of the pandemic, the couple found themselves visiting Central Oregon to camp more, leading them to make the move to Bend in 2020. After setting their roots in Bend, Megan decided to propose to Caitlin, and the proposal was nothing short of romantic. She told Caitlin not to work on a certain day, woke her up at 4:30 a.m. and drove them to Three Creeks Sno-Park for a sunrise snowshoe. There, Megan asked Caitlin to marry her with a nature-inspired ring—a style Caitlin had been hoping for. As if Megan couldn't have topped the grand proposal, that night she had set up a surprise dinner at a house in Sunriver, decorated with photos of the couple, a set menu and a cake from Foxtail Bakery which read "Eng-ged." "It was more than I ever expected," Caitlin said.

Megan was set on an autumn wedding with an outdoor space serving as the venue. "[The vision] was like fall, but don't make it 'Jack-O-Lantern,'" Megan said, laughing. When they went to Curated Events with their vision, they told them they wanted the feeling and the rich, natural colors of a harvest.

“We always wanted our bouquet and boutonniere to be done by a professional,” Caitlin said. As the elements of nature were important to the wedding and to the relationship, the couple picked an empty plot in their own backyard to grow flowers specifically for the day, and sought out Roots Wild Floral Co. to supplement the rest. The florals matched the vibrant, dramatic fall undertone of the ceremony: amaranths and dahlias of burgundy and deep reds.

Caitlin said she wanted to be somewhere where they had a view of the mountains but were surrounded by the forest. After extensive research on Google Maps, the couple went mushroom picking one day, and stopped at Big Lake Day Use Area on Santiam Pass to take a look, and they were sold. From there, they added elements of their love story into the planning, including a cornhole game designed by Megan and built by Caitlin, featuring three mountains of significance to their relationship—Mount Hood, Mount Washington and North Sister. Below the arbor, a stack of multi-colored pumpkins, which Caitlin referred to as “designer pumpkins,” sealed the autumn vibe of the wedding.

The day of the wedding began in the true spirit of their relationship: with a mountain bike ride at Maston Trail System with their dogs and friends. Caitlin had chosen a dress from Bend’s Bella Brides—one that she never expected herself to choose. The couple’s dog Cinnamon was the flower girl, and their other dog, Pinto, wore a matching suit to Megan’s from Bindle and Keep. The ceremony took place with a golden light looming in the background. The handmade arbor, built by Caitlin, was pressed against the backdrop of the breathtakingly blue view of Big Lake behind them. 🍂

Hannah & Holden

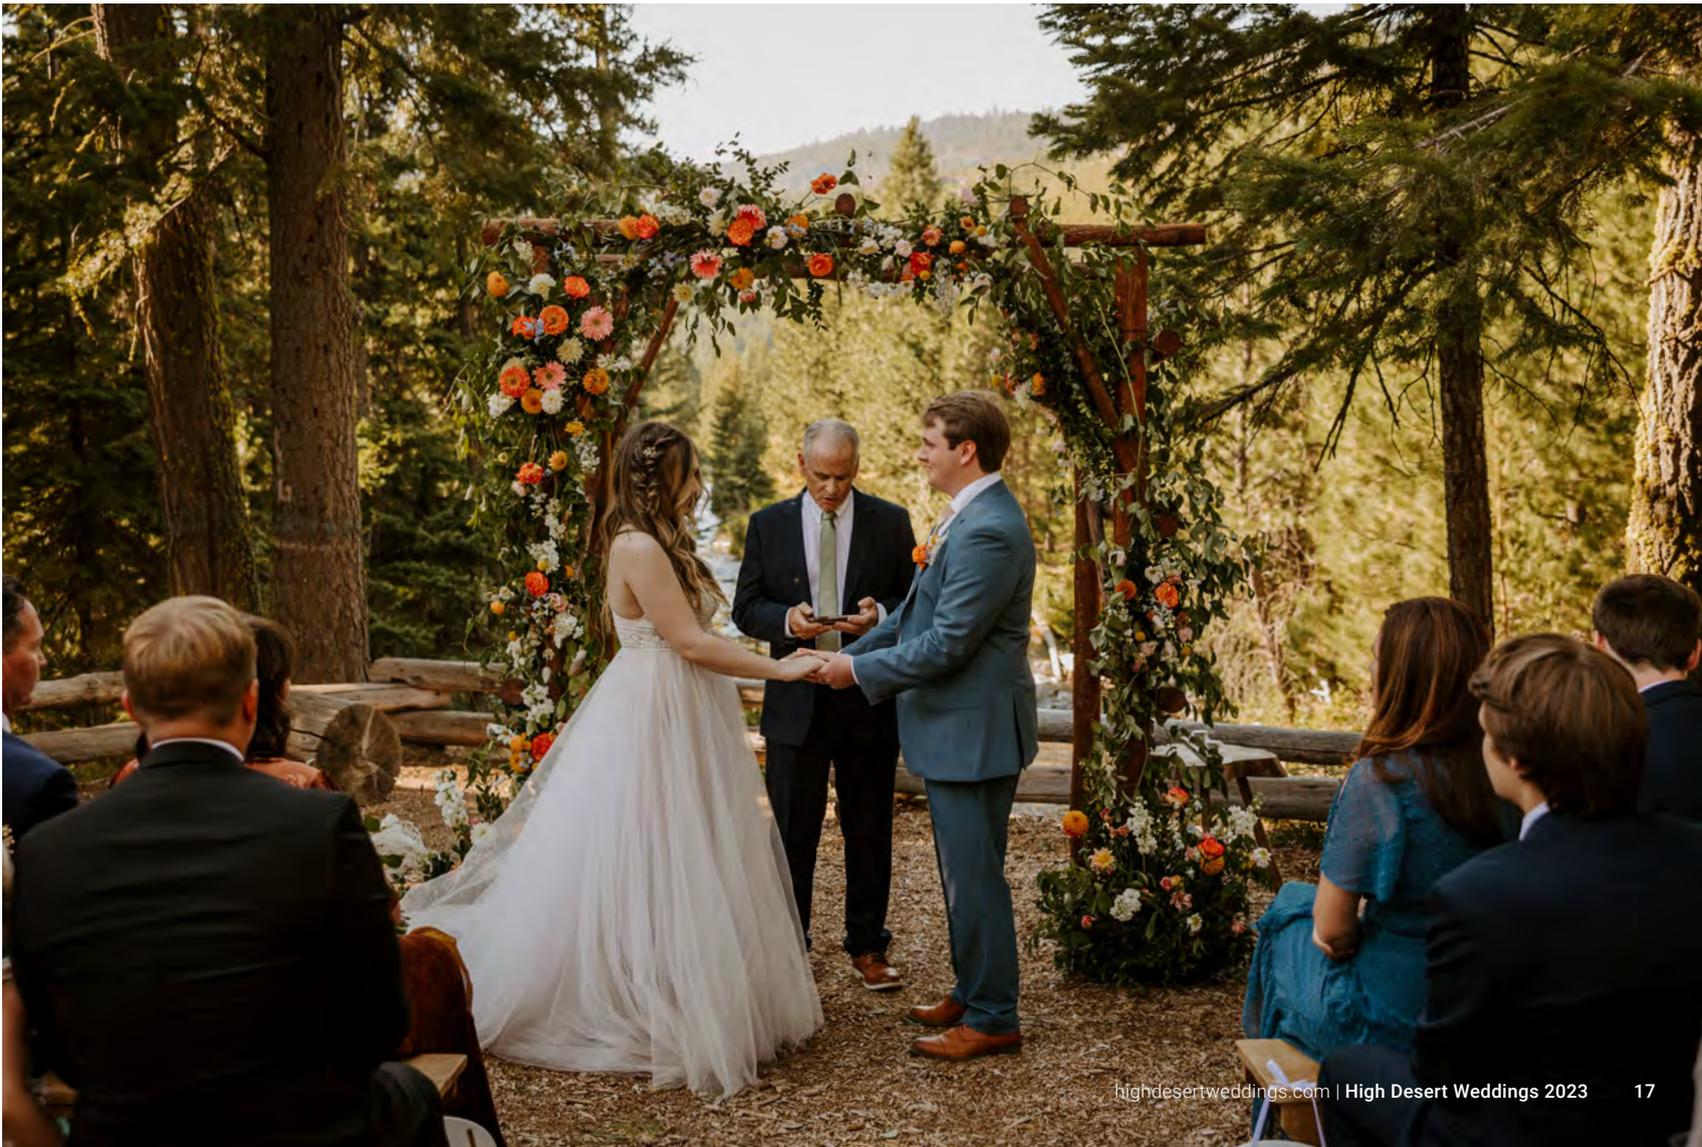

BOHO BLISS AT SKYLINER LODGE

High school sweethearts Hannah and Holden Hollenbeck met while attending Bend High School, where they shared a first date to homecoming. They continued their relationship long-distance through college, before ending up back in Central Oregon with plans to spend the rest of their lives together. The couple went ring shopping together, and after Hannah hinted at her hope of a low-key proposal, Holden popped the question in the couple's living room. "It was very us and very sweet," Hannah said. "I wouldn't change anything about it."

As a part-time coordinator at a Central Oregon venue and creative space, Hannah works weddings nearly every Saturday, giving her plenty of insight into planning for her own. Hannah set out to plan a wedding that reflected her boho style and taste, with a personal twist that felt reflective of the couple. "We really wanted the whole thing to be representative of us and be fun," Hannah said. "We have been together for a long time, so we felt that if we were having a wedding and throwing a party, it better be a blast." The wedding was held at Skyliner Lodge, a rustic, understated venue space along Tumalo Creek. "It had the forest-y campground feel Holden and I were after," Hannah said. "Plus the cliff behind the altar has the prettiest view." After saying "I do," the couple shared a ceremonial shotski of Limoncello, a celebratory tradition from Hannah's side of the family. "It was personal and sweet while also meeting my goal of our whole wedding day being fun and lighthearted," she said.

Hannah collected vintage furniture for a year before the wedding to help style five lounge areas in which guests could enjoy breaks from dancing. Drinks and tacos were available throughout the day and night, replacing a formal dinner service and making the evening feel more like a barbecue among friends and family, Hannah said. In place of a traditional guest book, attendees left voice memos into a vintage phone. The couple's getaway car was a 1966 yellow VW bus named Sunny, owned by a friend of theirs.

The event brought together many of the couple's friends who live locally and showcased the beauty and charm of Central Oregon to those who traveled for the occasion. "I'm biased because I live here and love it, but I feel like our backdrop is beautiful and diverse, which appeals to different aesthetics," Hannah said. "We have awesome weather for a good portion of the wedding season, the community of wedding vendors here are both incredibly talented and incredibly kind, and the culture of Central Oregon lends itself well to having a memorable event. Out-of-town guests will quickly understand how awesome Bend is. Mine did." 🍷

Abby & Martin

HOOKED ON LOVE IN CAMP SHERMAN

Central Oregon locals Abby and Martin Ciszek met through mutual friends back in 2017, and less than two years later, they were engaged. "Martin proposed in the spring of 2019 on the river trail in Camp Sherman, a place that holds great meaning to us both," Abby said. "We had the most wonderful day fly-fishing, hiking and enjoying one of our favorite places in the world before Martin got down on one knee and asked me to be his wife. It was perfect in every way."

The Bend area holds great meaning to Abby, a fifth-generation Central Oregonian, and Martin, who moved to the area with his family at age 10. "It was a no-brainer to have our wedding here in Central Oregon," she said.

The couple settled on House on the Metolius in Camp Sherman, not too far from where the proposal took place, as the venue for their September wedding. The private retreat offers outdoor ceremony space, ample room for tents and gathering areas and cabins for overnight rental. Families and the wedding party stayed on site for the weekend, which began with a welcome barbecue, complete with a bluegrass band and a mechanical bull to usher in the festivities. "We all woke up the next morning with funny mechanical bull stories and the bruises to prove them," Abby said. The location right on the Metolius River also meant that avid fly-fisher Martin could spend time fishing over the weekend.

Guests were shuttled in from Sisters, Bend, Black Butte Ranch and Camp Sherman for the wedding, which included an outdoor ceremony and tented open-air reception, with decor that included autumn-hued flowers and cozy string lights and lanterns. For the reception, guests referred to a seating chart of "Hooked on

You" field notes to find their spots, another nod to the couple's shared interest in fishing. "The seating chart wall was truly one of the highlights of our night, and something that our friends and family still talk about," Abby said.

San Francisco Bay Area singer-songwriter Sean Hayes, a friend of the couple's, provided live music for the reception, which also included toasts from the family, who had all come together to celebrate the couple. "We feel so grateful to have the continued support of our friends and family in all aspects of our lives," Abby said. "Hosting an event that brought everyone together to celebrate our love in one of the most beautiful places in the world was a dream come true." 🌵

Magical Venues

WHERE TO SAY "I DO" IN CENTRAL OREGON

Desert vistas, beautiful vineyards, lush parks, distant snow-capped peaks and endless flowing rivers are what make Bend and the surrounding communities sought-after wedding locations for locals and out-of-towners alike. Whether a close-to-town venue with easy accessibility and nearby or on-site lodging is desired, or a setting with more rural charm is what you're after, Central Oregon has dozens of venue options worthy of consideration.

Spectacular venues in nature, such as Smith Rock State Park in Terrebonne, draw couples seeking awe-inspiring backdrops for ceremonies and elopements.

Choosing a venue can be one of the most important decisions in the wedding planning process, and it's often one of the first decisions made. Some venues are the perfect choice for intimate ceremonies and smaller receptions, while others are flexible to accommodate large gatherings. Some offer a full-service experience without the need for much decision making, while other venues allow a couple to customize each and every detail.

Take time to explore the venues of the region before choosing the perfect location in which to say "I do."

The Great Outdoors

WATERFRONT, FOREST & PARK VENUES

Weddings on the Water

Scenic mountain lakes and cool, blue rivers make classic wedding photo backdrops for couples, wedding parties and guests. Sites along Central Oregon's rivers include the House on the Metolius, with unmatched privacy and new and recently renovated on-site cabins for lodging. Elk Lake Resort offers summer beach rentals on the shore, while Imperial River Company in Maupin offers a venue with lodging right on the Lower Deschutes River.

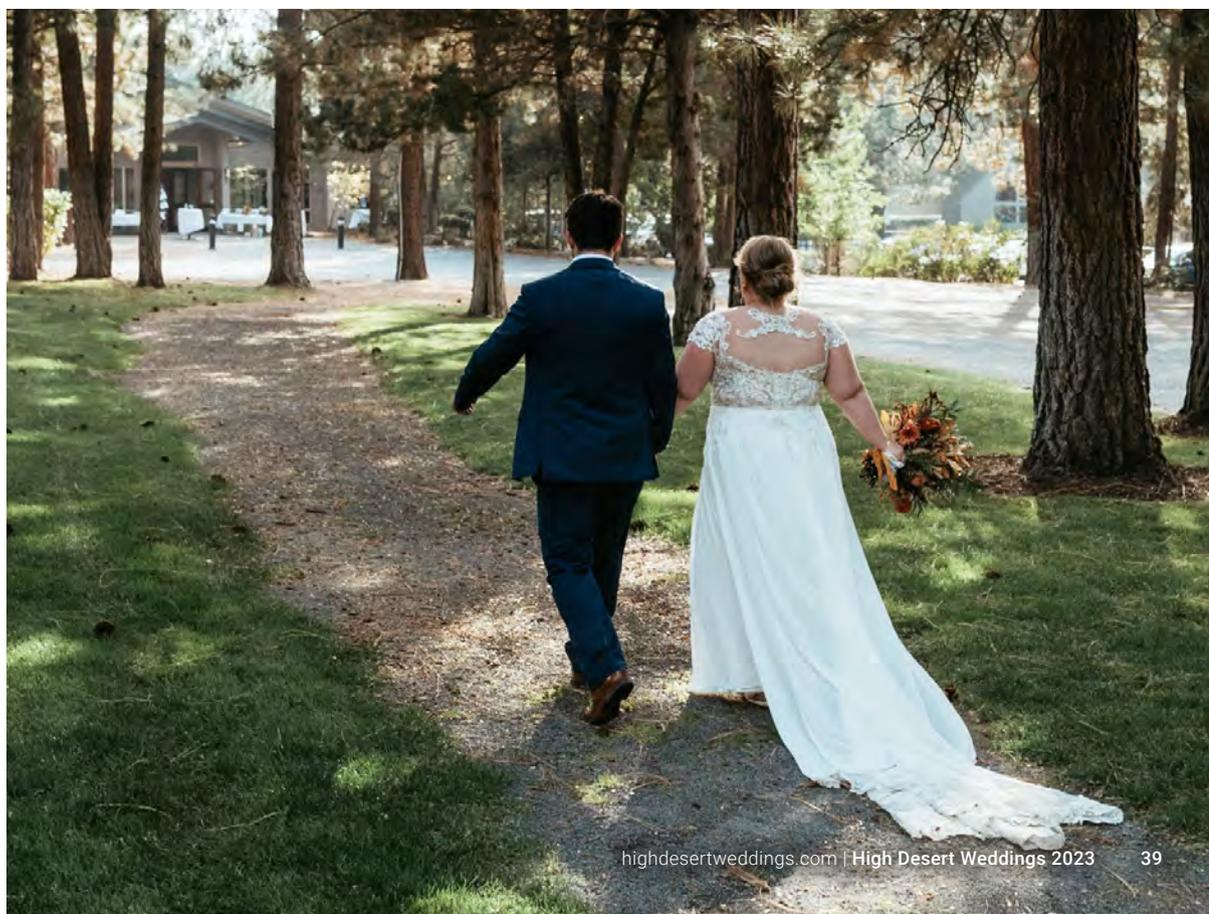

Stunning Parks

Bend is packed with beautiful city parks, with the Bend Park and Recreation District having a goal to ensure there's at least one park within a half-mile of every Bend residence. Among these plentiful parks are some cozy wedding venues, including Aspen Hall at Shevlin Park and the Hollinshead Barn at Hollinshead Park. Both are idyllic settings with lodge-like interior spaces set on spacious grounds.

Lodging in the Pines

Central Oregon resorts offer convenient on-site lodging and all-inclusive experiences, making for easier planning and logistics for guests. Seventh Mountain Resort is nestled in the Deschutes National Forest on the southwest side of Bend, offering a lodge atmosphere and easy access to outdoor activities for guests before or after the wedding day. The nearby Mount Bachelor Village Resort offers a theater venue and facility rental for receptions.

Guests will be surrounded by fine art, priceless artifacts and engaging wildlife—there's simply no other place like it.

Where to say “I do”

Venues within the High Desert Museum include the Schnitzer Entrance Hall, the 1904 High Desert Ranch, the Meadow, Hall of Plateau Indians and Earl A. Chiles Hall, along with two beautiful outdoor patios. Additional indoor and outdoor spaces, including exhibit halls, can also be reserved, allowing couples to create customized experiences for their wedding.

Mountain Magic

AT MT. BACHELOR

Introduce guests to the magic of the mountains with a wedding on the slopes of Oregon's largest ski area and year-round adventure destination, Mt. Bachelor. Say "I do" in the company of old-growth hemlock and pines, with unmatched views of the surrounding volcanoes and Cascade Range.

Where to say "I do"

Take the Pine Marten chairlift to the expansive two-level lodge, which is the region's highest elevation event venue, at 7,800 feet. Get married inside, on the deck or outside at the vantage point of your choice. Pine Marten Lodge is also an excellent venue for a smaller elopement during a summertime Sunset Dinner, or a rehearsal dinner of forty or more people. Sunrise Lodge and base area provides inside and outside space for weddings up to 120 guests and is located away from other public uses for a more serene and private event. Ceremonies can be done at the base area, or at the top of Sunrise chairlift for an unmatched experience.

Catering

Draw on the expertise of Mt. Bachelor's executive chef and culinary team to design a menu that fits a couple's tastes and budget. A dedicated on-site event manager is available to ensure the entire day runs smoothly, from ceremony, to dinner, to champagne toasts and desserts.

Transportation

Mt. Bachelor offers transportation options to get all guests from Bend to the mountain, and from the base area to the top of the Pine Marten chairlift, with accommodations for guests who would prefer not to take the chairlift.

Activities

Couples getting married at Mt. Bachelor will enjoy exclusive pricing on the Mt. Bachelor activity portfolio for themselves and their guests, or for bachelorette parties, bachelor parties and pre-rehearsal activities. In addition to alpine and nordic winter adventures, the resort's growing summer offerings include mountain biking, ziplining, hiking, disc golf, RV sites and nearby whitewater rafting from Bend or Sunriver with their sister company, Sun Country Tours.

VINEYARD VENUES

Vineyards have long been a popular choice for a scenic outdoor wedding, and Central Oregon offers its own selection of wineries at which to tie the knot. Faith Hope & Charity Vineyards has a 15-acre vineyard as part of its 300-acre property in Terrebonne. Maragas Winery north of Terrebonne offers gorgeous views of the vineyard, mountains and Smith Rock State Park. While not a winery itself, the nearby Ranch at the Canyons is a Tuscan-style community, with the Old Winery Clubhouse on-site used for small events. 17

Magic Makers

Planning a wedding is no small task, and it takes the careful collaboration of many people to plan, prepare and execute a vision. Even the most ambitious couples likely won't do everything on their own, nor should they have to. Central Oregon is home to an impressive array of wedding vendors, with experts in planning, decor, attire, hair and makeup, food and drink, photography and more, ready to serve.

When these vendors come together, magic happens. Last spring, a handful of wedding professionals who call Central Oregon home gathered for a day to showcase their expertise for a stylized shoot at the Campfire Hotel in Bend. Real life (but already married) couple Angelica and Tyler Lee dressed to impress, with Angelica in a locally-sourced dress and feeling glam after getting her hair and makeup done by Central Oregon professionals. Everything from the planner and rentals to floral arrangements and cocktails was sourced from local vendors, offering a true display of what's possible in Central Oregon.

Assembling a team of vendors might seem like a daunting task, but it can also be fun and exciting. Read on to learn more about the wedding vendors of Central Oregon and start putting together your team of magic makers. 🍷

A TOAST TO WEDDING DAY DRINKS

Local Libations

Central Oregon is known for its impressive craft beer scene with more than thirty breweries calling the region home. It's also home to many local distillers including Crater Lake Spirits in Bend, Gompers Distillery in Redmond and Badlands Artisan Distillery in La Pine. For local wine, there's Faith Hope & Charity Vineyards in Terrebonne and Maragas Winery near Smith Rock (both are also wedding venues) or Lava Terrace Cellars out of Bend. Long story short, there are plenty of ways to incorporate local drinks into your wedding menu.

Mobile Bars

A mobile bar can not only serve thirsty guests, but it adds something special to the wedding decor. More than a few of these mobile drink stations are parked in Central Oregon, ready to roll up to nearby venues. The Tippy Lemon out of Redmond operates "Squeezy," a 1966 vintage Aladdin trailer renovated into a mobile bar. Tumbleweed is a horse trailer turned mobile bar, perfect for weddings with country flair. New additions include Miley, a 1970's horse trailer turned beverage bar from Lifted Spirits Co. and The Bevy PNW, a Piaggio Ape vehicle from Italy outfitted to serve up drinks.

Signature Drinks

Offering two signature drinks representing the tastes of the couple is a growing tradition at weddings. Put a spin on the concept with a nod to our four-legged companions who can't always attend the ceremony by offering guests cocktail choices named after the pets of the family. It's a move the animal lovers of Central Oregon will appreciate.

Non-Alcoholic

Some guests will skip wedding cocktails and others may be looking for a pick-me-up away from the bar. Keep the party lively with an espresso bar that includes Italian sodas, one of many "bar" services offered by Pacific Perks, which operates in the Portland area and Bend. Many of the mobile bar setups also offer mocktail options, for fun, alcohol-free drinks to enjoy. 🍹

FROM FOOD TRUCKS TO FARM-TO-TABLE CUISINE

Central Oregon's desert terrain and chilly nights can provide a challenging environment for cultivating fresh ingredients, but still the region abounds with some of the most diverse agriculture and culinary offerings in the state. Let local ingredients and unique tastes take center stage.

Truck It

Central Oregon is home to hundreds of food trucks, many offering catering or mobile services for events, including weddings. While normally parked at Spoken Moto, A Broken Angel offers savory vegan comfort food, made from scratch. When couples book Cody's Country Catering, owner and chef Cody Serbus sets up an open flame barbecue to grill up tri-tip, chicken, Kalua pork or salmon, along with veggies and other sides served buffet style or as a plated meal.

Resort Cuisine

One perk of a full-service resort wedding is the thoughtfully considered catering that's taken care of for couples. Resorts including Sunriver, Tetherow and Black Butte Ranch handle catering for weddings on site, and guests can expect a dining experience that reflects the culinary charm of Central Oregon. Expect locally sourced and seasonal ingredients as part of extensive catering menus to pick and choose from.

Call the Caterer

Many catering services in the region exclusively service weddings and events. Organic and locally sourced foods are a staple for chef Gene Soto, co-owner of Bend's popular Bowtie Catering Co., which offers a unique menu, with options such as mini kimchi hot dog appetizers and entrees of grilled Korean-style short ribs or king salmon. Like many caterers, Tate and Tate Catering out of Redmond offers suggested menus and packages to keep planning simple, allowing couples to choose from a selection of appetizers, sides and entrees. Blue Bite Catering offers a standard wedding package with add-ons such as a non-alcoholic beverage station with gingerberry spritzer and minted lemonade. 12

Dessert Dreams

CAKES & MORE TO END THE NIGHT

Many couples are opting to forgo traditional wedding cakes for unique dessert options, with everything from cupcakes and pies to donuts and ice cream satisfying sweet teeth on the big day.

Donut Dreams

Try a cakey, frosty selection of donuts, best displayed on a donut wall. A big board with hooks can showcase the donuts individually, with guests grabbing the treat of their choice. Some boards are decorated with fun phrases, like “holy matrimony” or “donut mind if I do.” In Central Oregon, some of the tastiest donuts around come from The Dough Nut, with two locations in Bend. For more options, try Sweetheart Donuts, Delish Donuts or Richard’s Donuts & Pastries, all in Bend.

Get the Scoop

More Desserts to Try

Tailor-made dessert tables from Bend’s Dreamin’ Desserts can feature an array of mini desserts such as cookies, tartlets, cupcakes and pastries, which can be displayed with a cutting cake just for the couple. Bend’s Farmhouse Pies uses locally sourced ingredients for their pies and crumbles, with flavors including marionberry and apple.

A Little Cake for All

Cupcakes are a go-to option for couples that want a slightly different take on tradition. In Redmond and Bend, Ida’s Cupcake Café takes the cake for a tasty local option, with choices of various cake flavors, frosting and sprinkles chosen by the couple at a tasting beforehand. Ida’s has many gluten-free and vegan options, and offers regular wedding cakes, too. More traditional wedding cake options in Central Oregon include Foxtail Bakeshop, Too Sweet Cakes and Crumb Cakery. 🍰

FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS IN CENTRAL OREGON

Floral arrangements bring style, color and life to a wedding. Central Oregon is home to a handful of established floral designers, each offering their own qualities and style. Pinterest and Instagram are a great starting point for inspiration, but they are best complemented by local research to learn about pricing and availability of floral offerings in Central Oregon.

Farm Fresh

While many flowers making the way to weddings in Central Oregon come from wholesale suppliers out of the area, some farmers do take advantage of the Central Oregon growing season to provide locally grown arrangements in the summer. Sweet Posy is an heirloom flower farm on Deschutes Market Road in Bend that offers full service floral design for weddings or a smaller a la carte service for bouquets and centerpieces. Another high desert floral farm and flower studio, Roots Wild offers a flower CSA program, runs a booth at the Bend Farmers Market and offers wedding floral design.

Floral Investment

Flower arrangements for weddings carry a higher price tag than the type of bouquet you might pick up from a grocery store or farmers market, because of the high-end flowers used and complexity of sought-after floral installations, according to Summer Robbins, a Bend-based florist. "There's definitely a sticker shock moment," said Robbins, who specializes in floral arrangements for weddings and who is a preferred vendor for many of the region's resort venues. Reach out early to florists to understand their process and pricing, choose a vendor with a style that matches that of the couple and the wedding, and let the creativity bloom. 🌸

Wedding day photography and videography allows the magic of an unforgettable day to live on for years. Central Oregon is home to many talented photographers, each with their own niches and talents, ready to capture a couple's ceremony and celebration.

Picture Perfect

Look for a photographer whose energy and style matches well with your own, said Hannah Turner, a wedding and portrait photographer based in Bend. "You end up spending your whole day with your photographer by your side—from getting ready to your most personal moments," Turner said. "You want to make sure the person is adding the right type of energy to your day." Often a wedding photographer is the one to take engagement photos months earlier, which can be a great way to build a relationship between the couple and photographer, leading to a smoother wedding day.

Camera-Ready Venues

Central Oregon's outdoor spaces are the focus of several of the region's wedding venues. Many venues also offer diversity in the surrounding landscapes, with green areas, rocks, desert and forest. "At most of the wedding venues there is often some green space with aspens and a garden and then a beautiful desertscape—often within a few feet of each other, which allows for so much diversity of backgrounds and is something truly unique to Central Oregon," Turner said. Venues like FivePine Lodge in Sisters among the pine trees and log cabins or Ranch at the Canyons in Terrebonne with its Tuscan style are dreamy locations for photographers including Bend-based photographer Erica Swantek. "Central Oregon is a gorgeous place to get married, especially if you love the outdoors," Swantek said. "The mountains, rivers, lakes, waterfalls, pine trees and desert are all beautiful backdrops for your wedding photos."

Party Pics

Many couples encourage guests to put away phones for photography during the ceremony, but that doesn't mean attendees can't contribute to capturing the day in other ways. Leave out Polaroid cameras to use for a photo guestbook, or place disposable cameras on each table for guests to use. Friends and family will love the opportunity to goof off in a photo booth with backdrops and props, such as those offered by Dashoots Photobooth, Adventure Box Photo Booth or PhotoLounge, all out of Bend. For more character, book Ruby, a red 1971 VW bus turned rental photo booth or Juniper, a vintage photo booth trailer, both based in Central Oregon.

Glam & Glow

WEDDING ATTIRE, HAIR & MAKEUP TRENDS

Wedding day—it's a time for the soon-to-be-married, the wedding party and attendees alike to look their best. Here's what to consider when choosing attire, hair and makeup styles for the big day in Central Oregon.

Shop Smart

When choosing bridal stores to visit, don't go overboard, said Jenn Nichols, owner of Bend's Bespoke Bride. "We see so many brides get exhausted and confused the more they shop," Nichols said. She recommends choosing two or three stores and shopping early, as sometimes dresses can take six to eight months to arrive, followed by time for alterations. Nichols said to choose a dress you feel excited to get married in. "Trust your gut," she said. "If the dress makes you feel beautiful and excited to get married in it, don't be afraid to trust that feeling and just say 'yes.'"

Color Combos

Couples getting married in Central Oregon often choose to do so because of the beautiful outdoor landscapes, including the high desert, forests and the backdrop of the Deschutes River or a mountain lake. When choosing wedding party colors, consider which colors complement the decor and the scenery. Colors such as sage green and terracotta can serve up a boho vibe and pair well with the region's desert tones and greenery.

Weather Watch

Central Oregon is known for warm summer days, occasional evening breezes and cool nights. "We get winds, it gets dry, and it can snow, all in one day," said Christine Colucci, a hair and makeup professional and owner of Makeup Mafia. Colucci said she does ninety percent of each person's makeup and then finishes with touchups. She also offers products for women to hang onto and perform their own makeup touchups later in the day. She also uses weatherproofing spray on hairstyles.

Fresh Style

Natural looks are more popular among Central Oregon brides as opposed to heavy, over-the-top glam. "Brides in Central Oregon tend to lean toward the natural, glowing skin look," said Christine Redmon, a Central Oregon makeup artist with nearly two decades of experience. Hoping for a smooth experience getting ready on the big day? Redmon recommends researching makeup and hair professionals online, asking stylists for their guidance and opinion when choosing a look or hairstyle and most importantly, doing a trial run before the big day. "Do the trial run," Redmon said. "It will help you get used to wearing the makeup and hairstyle and see how they hold up."

Pre-Wedding Fun

BACHELOR & BACHELORETTE FESTIVITIES IN BEND

The soon-to-be-married love visiting Bend for a last hoorah with friends before marrying their partner. Some groups like Bend for its wine tasting, pampering and abundant sunshine. Others opt for golf, brewery tours and mountain biking trails. It's not unusual to see "bride" sashes and groups in matching outfits hitting the town most summer Saturdays, tubing the river, and enjoying Bend's nightlife. Planning a pre-wedding celebration in Central Oregon? Here are a few ideas for the to-do list.

Spa, Sweat and Sip

Bend's Old Mill District can serve as a one-stop shop for a bachelorette outing. Stop by Sephora for facials, makeup and goody bags, Lush for handmade cosmetics or the nearby Radiant Day Spa for more pampering. Also in the Old Mill, find group exercise classes through Orangetheory Fitness and Cyclebar. Make a toast at Rapa Nui Tiki Lounge, which serves picture-perfect island-inspired cocktails. For wine tasting, the Old Mill District offers Evoke Winery and Va Piano Vineyards, while the nearby Box Factory is home to Bledsoe Family Winery, Stoller Wine Bar, Bend Wine Bar and Elixir Wine Group.

Soak up the Sun

A float down the Deschutes River through town is a low-cost group activity perfect for warm summer days. Golfers will love the thirty courses within 30 miles of Bend, most offering a tasty 19th hole option for food and drinks and many with lodging on-site or close by. Guided tours range from wild ATV outings to kayaking to the popular CyclePub, which allows a group of riders to pedal through town and explore the region's craft brewing scene.

Eat, Drink and Celebrate

Bend is home to a robust culinary scene and an impressive assortment of craft breweries, distilleries and bars, meaning plenty of options for a night out. Book a table at the Cajun-influenced Zydeco Kitchen & Cocktails downtown, enjoy Deschutes River views and hot Thai soup at Sen Thai Noodles & Hot Pot or opt for delicious pub fare at Bend Brewing Company or Deschutes Brewery Bend Public House downtown. Sip on handcrafted cocktails at Dogwood, Velvet or San Simón. 🍷
